Devils Trounce Goats As Spirit Runs High

The Devils, for the second year in succession, defeated the Goats in a final contest in the Big Gym on Tuesday, April 2.

The 6:00 a. m. flag-raising, with girls scrambling to get their team flags on campus doors, was won by the Devils. A total of nine flags was hung successfully by the red-and-white. The Goats captured only Westmoreland, Virginia, and George Washington halls.

Leading a goat and carrying a devil hanged in effigy, the Goats had a pep rally in the afternoon, despite threatened thunder showers. The Devils gathered in front of Mary Ball at 7 o'clock for a series of cheers and then paraded, accompanied by drums, with a large banner.

The Goats gathered early in the Big Gym and were on hand to witness the entrance of the Devil. Wearing of the red-and-white flowed in a long stream behind the drummers who with banner-carriers, led the way. A red-clad Devil wearing a terrifying mask was borne in on a litter.

Mrs. Bushnell, with the aid of her whistle, conducted the contests between the teams. The first event was a rush for each end of the balcony to hang team banners by wires. Though there was much fumbling on both sides, the Devils finished first.

A sack-race, second on the schedule, was run three times because of misinterpretation of instructions by the contestants. Another win for the Devils was tallied in the third try. Further misunderstandings occurred in the hoop-rolling contest and the goats were again disappointed in the final result.

The next event, in which two girls on each side were tied loosely together to represent horses, featured fast crawling on hands and knees. Each duo had a driver. It was a photo-finish with general belief that the Goats won. Tenacity and strength was required for the final contest, a tug-of-war with four pullers on each side. In the first tug, the Goats gained victory. Two new teams were used for the second trial in which the Goats again proved successful.

A great cheer arose from the Devils when the judges, Mr. Levin Houston III, Mr. W. L. McDermott, and Mr. Russell Walther, announced their decision.

Dogwood Blossoms At German Dance

The German Club's spring dance, which was held Saturday, April 6, proved to be a great success.

Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock the tea dance was held in Monroe gymnasium. The color scheme of the decorations was predominantly yellow and green with high notes in white and pink. The balustrade was covered with wide yellow paper and trimmed with ivy and shower pine. Huge decorative branches of dogwood were placed at intervals on the paper.

The dogwood theme was repeated on the dance floor where white baskets containing dogwood branches and other greens were placed.

The formal dance was held in the Hall of Mirrors Saturday night. Members of the German Club carried nosegays of bright spring flowers. Following the intermission, club members formed

These officers were elected during winter quarter and will assume their duties in their respective dormitories during the week following the official installation of new Student Government officers on April 26.

MISS NIEHAUS GIVES MODELS TO NAVAL ACADEMY MUSEUM

Miss Marie Niehaus, daughter of the late Charles H. Niehaus, famed American sculptor, presented models of three of her father's noted works to the United States Naval Academy Museum at Annapolis in an informal ceremony in the E. Lee Trinkle Library on Friday afternoon, March 15. The gifts were accepted by Captain H. A. Baldrige, who acted as the personal representative of Vice Admiral Aubrey W. Fitch, superintendent of the Naval Academy. Captain Baldrige is curator of the academy museum.

The gifts, part of an exhibit of the sculptor's work now on display in the library, include a model of the Commodore Oliver H. Perry statue, in Buffalo, N. Y.; a model of the John Paul Jones statue in Potomac Park in Washington; and one of the models Mr. Niehaus created for his statue in honor of Francis Scott Key at Fort McHenry in Baltimore.

The exhibition, which was open to students, faculty, and the public until April 7, includes approximately 30 pieces of sculpture, representing Mr. Niehaus' working models, sketches, and completed works. On display are bronze casts of the statues "Cestus" and "Strigil" now at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City; a marble copy of the Lincoln statue in the Columbus Museum of Fine Arts, and a minute model of the memorial monument to Dr. Samuel Hahnemann which stands in Scott Circle, Washington.

Best known, perhaps, among the many works of Mr. Niehaus, who is said to have won more international sculptural competitions than any other American artist, are the figures Moses and the Historian Gibbon in the Library of Congress Building; full length portraits of President Garfield, Henry Clay, Governor Morton of Indiana, and Governor Allen of Ohio in Statuary Hall in the Capitol in Washington; a bust of Disraeli in Buckingham Palace in London; the allegorical figures on the Astor Historical Doors, Trinity Church, New York; the equestrian statue of General Nathaniel B. Forrest, Memphis.

Born in Cincinnati in 1855, Mr. Niehaus received his training in art at the McMicken School of Design there and at the Royal Academy in Munich, where he won the highest prize for artistic excellence ever awarded an American student by the Academy at that time. After travel in Italy, France, and England and a period of study in Rome, he made his home for many years in New York City where he executed many of his commissions. He died at Grantwood, N. J., in 1935.

Anne Barnes is a sophomore from Norfolk, Va. She belongs to Mary Washington Players, German Club, and Y.W.C.A. Barnes is majoring in Elementary Education. Her main interest is in sports, especially riding, swimming, and tennis.

Among the newly elected house presidents for the freshman and sophomore dorms are two who have served as house presidents this year.

Jean Kirby, at present house president of Willard, will soon settle down as the new house president of Virginia. She comes from Richmond and is majoring in public school music. She is active in the Y Cabinet, Student Government, Mu Phi Epsilon, Cotillion Club, and the M. W. band, orchestra, and dance orchestra. Tennis and basketball are her favorite sports, with bridge a close second, "if bridge is a sport," Jean added. She plans to be an elementary school music teacher when she

Athenaeum Presents Classical Pageant

"Paris of Troy," a classical pageant, was presented at convocation on March 27, in George Washington Hall by the Athenaeum Club, assisted by the Concert Dance Club.

Produced and directed by Dr. Rollin Tanner, the pageant centered around the old Greek myth of the golden apple and the three goddesses. With costumes that vividly pictured the time and with excellent characterizations, the classical Greek period was reenacted very successfully.

The cast, all of whom were splendid in their roles, were, in order of their appearance: Prologue, Lavenia Godwin; Paris, Dr. John Kirby; Cerone, Evelyn White; Ate, Rita Wigley; Singer, Amelia Markos; Pan, Mr. Boyd Graves; Sylvanus, Dr. Alan Pierce; Juno, Jene Haley; Venus, Jayne Haines; Pallas, Peggy Hoffman; Helen, Nancy Robertson; the three Fates, Harriet Coke, Annie Louise Patterson, and Marjorie Murray. The Knights were Mary Matkhen, Doris Ellen Mingin, Virginia Oquist, Frances Pearson, Jane Grey Tiller. The Cupids were Evelyn McGrath, Amy Rey, and Jewell Whitlock.

The concert dancers gave an impressive atmosphere in the pageant, and the entire program proved to be a delightful as well as entertaining one.

Greek mythological figures came to life briefly on the evening of March 27, when The Athenaeum produced "Paris of Troy," a classical pageant, as a convocation program. The Concert Dance Club assisted in the presentation of the pageant.

SUN BATHING

"The time has come, the walrus said,
To talk of many things—
Of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax,
Of cabbages and kings."

Lewis Carroll

—And sunbathing!

There has been an area delegated for this spring and summertime sport. The ice skating rink and territory immediately adjacent to it are for this purpose. The tennis courts are not to be used, as they are for the more active game of "batting the ball around."

This is a privilege given to Mary Washington girls, and like all other privileges—there is responsibility attached. The responsibility in this case is that of keeping the area clean. Bottles and trash should not be left on the rink. Two trash cans on either side of the area are provided for discarded paper and other trash, and bottles should be returned to the "C" Shoppe. Any kind of glass left in the designated area may get crushed, and someone will be reporting to the infirmary with lacerated feet.

Another thing for Old Sol's friends to remember is that our "sun spot" is a rather public-place. Shorts and halters, or bathing suits are the required dress.

If sun worshippers can't abide by these few regulations, the privilege will have to be taken away. So—don't leave trash—and do dress!

V. E. P.

A SKIRT

It is a well-known fact that Mary Washington girls have very pretty legs—but there is an even older adage—that "Modesty is the best policy!"

I have noticed recently that a few—mind you, only a few—students have been wearing gym suits or sun garments with only a trench coat over them. As you know, most trench coats have a slit along the center seam of the back—and when it is open, a girl does not appear to the best advantage.

The simple solution to all these problems is—a skirt. A skirt is a beautiful thing, and emphasizes rather than conceals a girl's natural grace. Also the professors feel a little more at ease when they see a student walking along in her rightful garb—a skirt.

It is not only a rule of the college, but a principle of modesty that a woman should wear a skirt. A skirt is a symbol of womanhood. Enough for skirts—I just want to add that the present gym suits are made like blouses to be worn with skirts.

The next time you go to sun bathe or to gym class remember to slip on A SKIRT!

The cartoonist for the BULLET is Primm Turner, a Freshman from Richmond, Va. Her cartoons were selected from those submitted for the contest, and beginning April 15 "Primm's Peevess" will appear in each BULLET.

Primm is an art major with her major interest in drawing coats of arms. She also likes sports. This seventeen year old has lived in Buffalo, New York, and Blacksburg, but now she resides in 217 Willard. After graduation she wants to specialize in art still further.

At St. Gertrudes, where she attended high school, she drew the cartoons for their paper for one semester.

Woolen garments should be dried at room temperature; too much heat or cold mats and hardens them.

Social Notes

by
CAROLYN SHANKWEILER

Dee Myers and Eugene Hildreth were married in the University of Virginia Chapel at Charlottesville on March 23. The bride wore a white satin hoop-skirted gown and a finger-tip length veil. She carried a prayer book topped by a white orchid. After a two-week wedding trip the Hildreths will be at home in Charlottesville, where the bridegroom is a medical student.

A visitor on campus this weekend was Frank Stevens. He was the guest of Marilee Miller.

Rosemary Sheehan, Beverly Parker and Edith Matzenger were guests at the Annual Masqueraders festivities at Annapolis this weekend. They attended the Masqueraders production, "Kiss And Tell," Friday night and an Academy dance Saturday night.

Nancy Shugart became the bride of Army-veteran James Stewart on March 18. Married at her home in Pisgah, Md., Nancy wore a white botany flannel street dress and black accessories. She carried a colonial nosegay. Billie Shugart, sister of the bride and her only attendant, wore a neutral garb—dinner suit with blue accessories and flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will be at home in Winston Salem, N. C., after a wedding trip to Fla.

Mrs. Nash Conklin of Winchester, mother of Betsy Conklin, was a guest on campus last week.

The engagement of Alice Floyd to Naval Air Corpsman Robert Sистерhenn has been announced. The bridegroom-to-be is now serving in the Mediterranean. The wedding will take place this summer.

Gurdine Link has left school for the spring quarter because of illness.

A summer wedding is being planned by Lois Ann Todd and Louis Meyers, who recently became engaged. Both Lois Ann and her fiancé are from Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Virginia Kemp Holcombe will join her husband in Japan in June. Ginny left school after completing her winter quarter.

Betty Lewis girls were the guests of their hostess, Mrs. Love, at a party recently. Mrs. Love's two daughters, Mrs. B. W. Churchill and Mrs. Don Perry, both of Hampton, Va., were guest hostesses.

The marriage of Jackie Jones, former MWC student, and James Tolliver Davis took place recently in Asheville, N. C.

Rickenbacker Series Continued 'Til June

The World's Most Honored Flights, with Captain Eddie Rickenbacker in the role of host and historian, have been extended from a series of 13 presentations to a total of 18 and will come to a close in June instead of in April as originally planned.

Announcement to this effect was made by Mr. M. Fred Cartoun, Executive Vice-President of the Longines-Wittnauer Watch Company, who said:

"The interest taken not only by the general listening public but also by students and educators, spiritual leaders, youth groups, civic organizations and industrial companies in this program, has convinced us of the necessity of extending The World's Most Honored Flight series because of the unusual recognition it has been given by virtue of its educational entertainment qualities, not only to air-minded youth but to older people as well.

"Briefly, the new programs pay tribute to the Aircraft workers who built our vast air armada and the ground crews who kept our flying battlewagons in combat trim. They tell the inside story of how the Doolittle Tokyo Raid was conceived and executed; reveal hitherto unknown facts with respect to how Hun submarines were sent to the bottom of the sea by U. S. Navy Jeep Aircraft Carriers. Tribute is also paid to the epic chapter of Empire history written by Canada when it renewed England's air strength after the dark days of Dunkirk. To place these additional shows in the proper perspective in the series, it has been necessary to rearrange the sequence of the program as originally planned."

The World's Most Honored Flights, written by Colonel Hants Christian Adamson and directed by Lester Vall, are being broadcast weekly over Station WRVA, on Mondays, at 10:30 o'clock p. m. This includes the complete series of 18 half-hour plays.

Loyalty Night

Loyalty Night, sponsored by Student Government and YWCA, is to be held on the Athletic Field at 9 o'clock Monday night, April 15. The theme for the program is to be the Mary Washington seal with the words "Pro Deo, Domo, Patria."

A loyalty poem by some MWC student will be read as a part of the program. The presentation is to be a serious one to invoke more thought on the part of students concerning the meaning of our seal.

Each class will form before nine and march down to the field in a body. The Seniors are to gather in front of the swimming pool; Juniors, in front of Ball; Sophomores, in front of Virginia; and the Freshmen, in front of Chandler. During the program each class will sing its original Alma Mater, written for the Song Contest.

THE STUDENTS SPEAK

Editor of the Bulletin:

On the last Devil-Goat Day, I, as a Goat was shocked on hearing of several instances of violence and ill-feeling which resulted from the flag-raising.

I have no doubt that the flag-raising was instituted as a keenly enjoyed part of Devil-Goat Day. Perhaps in other years it was looked upon as a test of running power and teamwork. But such is no longer the case. I had an eye witness account of a kicking and hair-pulling melee concerning the Chandler flag. And this is no condemnation of the Devil; both sides were equally to blame.

The purpose of Devil-Goat Day is, avowedly, to increase school spirit and give a special day of fun to the whole school. I cannot see that the flag-raising contest, as it went this year, in any way added to either of these.

I like Devil-Goat Day. I like the cheering, the songs, the friendly rivalry. I like the exciting events in the Big Gym, the feeling of oneness with the team. I also like, with a sly joy, to see a Devil taking the long way around to go into a building. I enjoy the piqued feeling I have when going on a detour myself. I would hate to see any part of Devil-Goat changed. But when it comes to choosing between elimination of the flag-raising as it stands, or allowing a competitive event to destroy good feeling, I say we should follow the former course.

Sincerely,
Joan Goode

(Ed. note: This column is to give students and faculty an opportunity to express their views. All letters must be signed. A suggested topic for next week is "Lack of School Spirit at MWC." Of course, letters on other subjects will be accepted for publication.)

I believe in gittin' as much good outen life as you kin—not that I ever set out to look for happiness; seems like the folks that does, never finds it. I see do the best I kin where the good Lord put me at, an' it looks like I got a happy feelin' in me 'most all the time.

The new house president of Willard will be Anna White, now house president of Madison. She lives in Portsmouth and is majoring in English and social science. She plans to teach when she graduates, but at present her life is well filled with acting as house president, and to quote Anna, "I'm looking forward to being house president of Willard, and I know it's going to be an entirely different experience from being house president of Madison." Her present roommate, Lila Kinsey, will be Freshman Commissioner.

Irene Taylor was elected house president of Betty Lewis and she hastened to say, "I was in Betty Lewis my freshman year." She is the pianist in the Glee Club, is in the band color guard, and belongs to Alpha Phi Sigma, Alpha Tau Phi, Mu Phi Epsilon, and the dance orchestra. Hailing from Herndon, Virginia, she "loves" to play the piano, and is majoring in public school music.

As the new house president of Cornell, Laurie Richardson will soon move to her new dormitory. She is from Norfolk, and is majoring in mathematics and science. She belongs to Alpha Phi Sigma, student government, Holiday Chorus, and is very interested in music. Laurie's main concern after she graduates will be her husband who is now at N. C. State.

Radio Waves

Station WMWC has elected officers for the coming year, 1946-47. Lois Anderson will be Station Manager and the Board of Directors will include Ruth Meyer, Mary Jane Lindenburg, Gurdine Link, and Norvell Millner. Lois is at present business manager for the station and is taking her second year of Radio Broadcasting.

Pins for active members of WMWC are being ordered once a week, on Fridays. If you are an active announcer, engineer, or script writer, turn your name and $1.85 in to Norvell Millner in Room 101 Virginia. By "active" we mean that you have been regular and dependable in your work on station WMWC.

"Nations of the World" are being featured on our 3:30 programs each Wednesday afternoon over WFVA and WMWC. These broadcasts are designed to bring about better unity among all countries. Such programs include native songs, information as to population, race, size, and history, skits, etc.

In a recent broadcast on Cuba the great-granddaughter of the man who wrote the national anthem was interviewed. She is Neal Ayala, a student at Mary Washington College. Neal revealed personal facts in the life of a national figure, and told how he came to write the national anthem of Cuba.

Turkey was our latest nation introduced "on the air." Some little known facts were brought out concerning modern life and ways in this oriental country.

Other nations to be the subject of future presentation are China, Russia, and England.

Postcards and letters criticizing programs, reception, and suggesting desired types of broadcasts will be welcomed by the staff of WMWC. Let us know your reactions; don't keep them all to yourself.

Strange as it seems—it happened in the studio. The other day Bet Collins had a program which was to include six people from colleges other than MWC. Only three showed up. A frantic search for more material brought forth two girls who work in the administrative offices. One is from Texas Christian; the other from Texas University. They were not acquainted, but a thorough conversation revealed mutual friends—and when they left the station, both were chattering away and planning for future get-togethers to talk about Texas.

Friday Joan Goode is giving students an opportunity to quiz the faculty. Her "Examination Day" will include three student and three faculty members—all to be graded on their classwork. Report cards may even be handed out. Wonder which will come out on top—students or faculty!

Sue Tilson Reveals Attendants' Names

R.-M. College Boys Delight Audience At Variety Show

The Randolph-Macon College Glee Club with a delightful two-part program of varied choral selections and a comical variety show, made its second appearance on this campus in Monroe auditorium last Friday night. This year the concert was sponsored by the Wesley Group of Mary Washington College.

Among the concert selections, Negro spirituals, folk songs, sacred songs, and a group of mixed songs were brilliantly presented; the audience's response was tremendous. Under the superb direction of Mr. William Troxell, the clever arrangement of "Short'nin' Bread" by Jacques Wolfe won the greatest acclaim while the rendition of Fred Waring's arrangement of "Set Down Servant" displayed the many effects that can be gotten by different voices. The unusual skill of the group was also depicted in the double chorus of "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" by Luther and the popular "Invictus" by Bruno Huhn.

Soloists for the evening were Roger Harris, tenor, and Clare Cotton, bass, who showed amazing talents. Miss Gladys Coulter was accompanist for the group and gave as solos delightful arrangements of "Deep Purple" and "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes."

The second part of the program consisted of a variety show entitled "Who Struck John?" a "Fit in three spasms" held together by Roddy Jones, narrator and master of ceremonies. The show began shrouded by mystery when "John" was brutally shot. The pursuit of the murderer by the Scotland Yard "sleuth" throughout the show brought many laughs from the audience.

The variety selections included a hilarious number of "Ida" by the "Rocks," a take-off on the famous Rockettes; two selections by the quartet; feats of magic by Paul Isenberg who showed great talent at sleight of hand tricks; various selections by the brass band made up of "everything under the sun except musicians; "Carmen Miranda—right from Hollywood" by Travis Stanley; trumpet solos by Warren Denton and a mellow dramatic skit, "Little Nell" by the "Theatrical Guild."

The latter part of the program was written and presented by the boys entirely on their own without the aid of their director except for a few suggestions. Mr. Troxell, incidentally, attended Mary Washington College as a co-ed in the summer of 1939 and in '37 and '38 directed the high school band in Fredericksburg.

The train bearers and flower girls will be: Elizabeth Goodloe, Jane Walker Robinson, Helen Joanna Weber, and Rebecca Josephine Wilson.

U. of Va. Students To Be On MWC Campus For Summer Months

Because of the housing shortage at the university, Mary Washington is making its facilities available to the University of Virginia Summer Session this year, and a number of education courses usually offered at the university during the summer will be taught here by members of the university and Mary Washington faculties. The college will also conduct simultaneously its own 10-week session.

Willard and Cornell are to be turned over to women university students, and Betty Lewis will furnish rooms and apartments for men and for family groups. Mary Washington girls will live in other on-campus dorms.

In announcing the university's summer program here, Dr. George B. Zehmer, dean of the University of Virginia Summer Quarter, said that the plan, a temporary extension. Continued On Page 4

The annual Snowden Hunter Trials will take place at Snowden farm this next Saturday. Mark that up as a must on your calendar if you want to see some mighty fancy riding. It is one of the most fascinating and exciting shows held in this vicinity and brings out the best in the riders who participate. The Rappahannock Valley Garden Club is sponsoring the show and they will also serve sandwiches during the afternoon. The proceeds of the show will go to the American Red Cross. All of the MWC girls who have hunted this year with the Oak Hill Hunt Club are eligible entrants and don't think those girls haven't been laboriously schooling their horses over the outside course at Snowden for nothing.

The classes will be about the same as they have been in previous years. If you have no idea what happens at such a show the following program will serve as a guide concerning the conditions of various classes.

Hunters: for horses that have hunted with the "Oak Hill Hunt" outside course. Horses will be judged on manners and way of going as a working Hunter.

Hunter Hack: for students of "Mary Washington College" who have hunted with the "Oak Hill Hunt" to show at a walk, trot, canter, and gallop, and jump four jumps not to exceed three feet. Horses to be judged on manners and way of going for a pleasant ride.

Pairs of Hunters: to be shown over outside course, horses to change leads after third fence back to the ring.

Hunter Hacks open to all: to be shown at walk, trot, canter, and gallop. Jump four fences not to exceed three feet.

Local Children's Horsemanship: 16 years and under, judged on seat and hands as ridden for saddle or hunter purposes. "Horsemanship" only to count.

Now that you have a good idea what to expect—we'll see you all at the trials next Saturday at 2:30. Snowden Farm is within easy walking distance of the College. Ask anybody you see in riding clothes and they will be glad to tell you how you can get there.

Cavalry made a fine show for itself in the parade held last Saturday. Taken for granted that Fredericksburg streets are rather narrow—you should have seen the Troopers executing commands, given by Captain Campbell, as they marched down the main street of town.

The Hoof Prints Club welcomed in new members last Friday evening when they issued bids to the following girls: Louise Boyer, Dorothy Quinn, Shirley Cohn, Bunny Daly, Harriet Sanford, and Betty Lou Shellhorse. The initiation date has been set for Friday, April 12th. You girls had better get a good night's sleep, especially you Shirley Cohn—Mabs Royer much prefers being awakened at five o'clock in the morning by an initiate rather than the old conventional alarm clock.

Fear not however, your reward will come at the initiation party that night. The committee chairman for the party will be: Food—Babs Spencer, Initiation—Lorraine Goode, and the bids were made by Bev Falne and Towley Rowe.

He added that the housing situation was so serious that university authorities could not find living accommodations for returning veterans, most of whom were former University of Virginia students, who had been accepted for the academic year which began on February 25.

However, only undergraduate courses in education are to be offered here. Approximately 200 students are expected to enroll for university study.

Presbyterian Officers Installed Palm Sunday

At the close of Palm Sunday, April 14, the day when all Christians are thinking especially of Christ and His work among men in His Kingdom on earth, the installation service of the Westminster Fellowship and Sunday School officers will be held in the Presbyterian Church of Fredericksburg at eight o'clock. The Reverend Joseph H. Cudlipp, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, Laurel, Maryland, (better known to young people as Colonel Cudlipp of Massanetta) will be the inspirational speaker for the night, centering his message about the new young people's theme "Live Christ."

The girls of Mary Washington College who will be installed by the Reverend R. V. Lancaster, pastor of the local church, have been chosen for officers because of the cooperation, initiative, service, and interest they have shown in winning students to living a Christ-centered life and the Christian character and leadership they possess. The new officers of the College Sunday School Class are: Sylvia Francis, president; Emily Barksdale, vice-president; and Mildred Reed, secretary-treasurer.

The new officers for 1946-47 of the Westminster Fellowship are Helen McGlothlin, president; Emilie Taylor, vice-president; Lillie Buchanan, secretary; Ann Ralston, treasurer; and Dorothy Matheny, historian.

The public as well as the faculty and students of Mary Washington College are invited to attend this service.
